

TRAIN : Eurostar

JOURNEY : London to Disneyland Paris (or vice versa)

Journey Duration : Scenic Day Trips

Itinerary

It takes an average of 2h 52m to travel from London to Disneyland Paris (Marne-la-Vallée Chessy) by train, over a distance of around 222 miles (357 km).

There are normally 7 trains per day travelling from London to Disneyland Paris (Marne-la-Vallée Chessy).

It is via one change at Lille Europe.

When you get to Lille Europe, head up to the main floor and check the departures board. When you've found your platform, head back down to platform level and hop on your connecting TGV train to Marne-la Vallée - Chessy (which is the station opposite the Disneyland® Paris park gates).

On your way home, just do the trip in reverse. But be sure to jump on your TGV train from Marne-la-Vallée - Chessy at least 2 minutes before departure. You'll then need to go through border control and security before you board your Eurostar train at Lille Europe.